Brief Report on the Event	PowerPoint is well utilized to create a slideshow of valuable information through charts, and images for a presentation. PowerPoint allows presenters to translate complex ideas, facts, or figures into easily digestible visuals. Visual representations of information activate the right hemisphere of the brain, which allows viewers to interpret, expound, and engage with what they're seeing. In the case of a PowerPoint presentation, this right-sided brain function makes perfect use of the software's primary purpose, i.e., translating detailed information into visuals that enable the presenter to avoid audience confusion and keep the meeting moving.
